in co-organization with the Klaipeda University (Lithuania), the Catholic University of Valencia (Spain),
the Frederick University of Nicosia (Cyprus), the University of Applied Sciences in Tarnow (Poland), the Education and Teacher Training Agency, and the Agency for Vocational Education and Training and Adult Education is organizing an International Scientific and Professional Conference

WHAT KIND OF UPBRINGING AND EDUCATION DO WE WANT?

which will take place from May 18 – 20, 2023, at the University of Zadar.

The conference will explore education in a broad sense and is intended for preschool educators, primary and secondary school teachers, principals and professional associates in educational institutions, educators in student dormitories, professors in higher education institutions, students of undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate studies, and professionals whose scientific and professional interest is education and upbringing, as well as for general public.

The conference programme is composed of plenary and work sessions, a round table, workshops, panel discussions and a poster exhibition.

The thematic areas of the conference include:

- Educational values in national, European and international contexts – values we strive for
- Knowledge, solidarity, identity and responsibility as core educational values
- Objectives of upbringing and education and how to achieve them
- Theoretical and methodological starting points in research of social and educational values
- Family as the core of educational values and challenges of modern parenting
- Innovative styles, methods and means of upbringing and education
- Contemporary vs. traditional educational concepts
- Educational challenges of educational institutions
- Pedagogical dimension of higher education
- The regional centers of competences as education reform challenges
- Professional culture and communication

- Professional ethics and academic integrity
- Educational dimension of contemporary media
- Relationship between pedagogical theory and pedagogical practice: exchange of good experiences

The working languages of the conference are Croatian and English.

Abstracts of accepted papers will be printed in a book of abstracts, which will be an integral part of conference materials upon participants' arrival and registration.

One scientific and one professional monograph will be published as a result of the conference. The monographs will include papers in Croatian or English, as the official languages of the conference.

All published works will undergo a double-blind review process.

Participants of the conference will receive an official certificate of professional training from the "Stjepan Matičević" Center of the University of Zadar.
